Respond to the question in at least 50 words.

It is good for children to have homework. Do you agree or disagree? Give specific reasons for your answer.

Children attend school five days a week, for seven hours a day, and much of the time they have additional work to complete at home. A vast amount of people believe homework is suitable for children while I, on the other hand, completely disagree. Children already have enough academic pressure. Continuing to do school work at home can be stressful and frustrating. First of all, when students go home, they should be able to spend time with their parents. Parents are separated from their kids for most of the day, and they should be able to play games together or read books without the added stress of figuring out calculus if their child has a question. In addition to this, I think that students should be able to attend extracurricular activities, such as clubs and sports without worrying about rushing home to get their homework done. Schoolwork should be for school, and home should be time for family and fun.

“Think about a vacation you took with your family as a child. Where did you go? What did you do? Did you enjoy the trip?”

When I was about six my family and our neighbours decided to take a trip to see almost all of Australia. We each bought a caravan and set off on a road trip, starting in the middle. The first stop was at a place called Coober Pedy where there are opal mines and a lot of people live underground in the old mines that have been changed into homes and hotels. The next step was Uluru, the biggest rock in the world, I think, which is very important to the aboriginals, the original people of Australia. Then we made our way to Darwin and we learned about the history of different things that have happened there, like the hurricane and the bombing in World War II. From there, we came down along the east coast visiting amazing places like the theme parks in Queensland and the beaches in New South Wales. I really enjoyed it. It was so much fun going with another family because we five kids really got along and had a lot of fun in the car. We loved the experiences that we had in all the different places, it's something I will never forget and I hope to do again.

Describe the image. You have to speak for between 30-90 seconds.

A man in a white shirt and white pants is stooped down beside a very large yellow truck. He is working on his hands and knees on the floor. He is wearing heavy and thick gloves. He is taking the chains and attaching them to the floor to secure the truck down. This man must be a mechanical worker for this vehicle. He makes sure that the vehicle stays in great condition and can work as soon as it is needed. This man looks to be in a large cargo area either for a ship or a plane, so he is making sure that this large yellow truck will not move as soon as the ship or plane move. The chains are thick, and they look very heavy. He is tying the chains down to the ground by the back wheel. The picture also shows there are two massive chains by the front wheel as well. I would also assume there are even more chains on the other side of this huge yellow truck too. This man is very serious, and he will ensure that the cargo is safe and that the cargo passengers will not get crushed by this truck because he has made sure it is secured.

Yesterday I went shopping to buy my friend a gift. It was her birthday last week but we couldn't catch up because I was sick so now we're going to make up for it this weekend instead. I bought her a bracelet that is with dark navy beads and also some red ones that are shaped like a heart. I actually bought this for her because she is going to get married soon and I wanted to go along with the tradition that we have which is 'something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue' so this bracelet is blue and new and hopefully she'll be able to have the other things as well to have good luck on her wedding day. The other thing that I bought is a voucher for a spa day because I know she's been quite stressed recently so I think it would be good that we go together and get facials and massages and then we can relax in a spa or pool afterwards. Yes she gave a present to me too, she was traveling a month ago in Mexico and she brought back some beautiful wooden dragonfly earrings that were hand painted, and a ceramic skull that has flowers painted on it, which is a very traditional souvenir from Mexico and I love it.

“Some people keep wild animals as pets. What do you think are the positive and negative aspects of owning a wild animal?”

Owning a wild pet is actually illegal in many countries, but some people can get permission to do it because of their job. I actually knew someone, a roommate, who worked for a traveling zoo and he brought a lot of wild animals back to our house and it was great. We definitely enjoyed playing with these animals, learning about them, and taking cute pictures. We even had a pet baby dingo for a while, which is even cuter than a puppy. Of course, one problem with wild animals is that they are quite dangerous. They have not been domesticated so they don't know how to act at home. They may even bite or poison you or your loved ones. There was one time when our housemate brought home a baby crocodile and even though its mouth was taped shut it still managed to scratch us with its claws. We had to lock it in the bathroom and leave it there all night until an expert could come and take him away. So, in the end, I think unless you are a trained specialist you really should not have a wild animal in the house.
